HOW PREVELANT IS VIOLENCE IN THE WORKPLACE?

The Bureau of Labor Statistics found that workplace violence is the second-leading cause of occupational injury. In 2011, 458 workplace homicides occurred. The next year, it was reported that 767 workplace deaths in the U.S. were due to violence or suicide.

HOW PREVELANT IS AN ACTIVE THREAT IN THE WORKPLACE?

With just active shooter incidents in the workplace, the FBI found that over the period of 2006-2013 there was a rise to 16.4 incidents annually. This statistic does not include all active threats including other types of weapons, fights, confrontations and suspicious and dangerous activity.

WHAT IS THE ACTIVE THREAT RESPONSE PROGRAM FOR BUSINESSES?

The Active Threat Response Program for Businesses is designed to give staff the confidence needed in order to protect and defend themselves in the event a disgruntled employee becomes violent; or an active killer or other terror attack occurs at the workplace. The variety of teaching components transforms the way workplaces view and respond to these threats; and gives them the tools needed to develop detailed procedures for the workplace. There are two options for this program:

- Full Scale Active Threat Response Program (an in-depth 6-month program that will revolutionize how administrators, and staff respond to, and plan for, an active threat in the workplace)
- Active Threat Response Training for Staff (1-day interactive, all-staff training on how to respond to a threat in the workplace)
